

Rural health is rewarding. So are the scholarships.

Hannah Lee is a Bush Bursary recipient who undertook placement at Goulburn Base Hospital.

“The placement was extremely educational. I observed procedures I’d never seen before, both in a GP and hospital setting. The teaching was beyond what I’d hoped for: everyone, including the patients, were willing to explain things and share their experiences. This will benefit me greatly when I commence my clinical course work. Everyone is so friendly and cares for everyone else in the community. I feel very strongly about rural clinical practice in the future.”

Application forms are available from the NSW Rural Doctors Network website at www.nswrdn.com.au under Students & Scholarships.

What is the rural health scholarship website?

The website is a one-stop-shop for health students looking for scholarships.

It provides information on money available to study health at university.

Our site features a database of information about scholarships for rural origin students, scholarships to assist with costs to study allied health, nursing and medicine courses, and scholarships to help students gain rural experience throughout their course.

There are links to all national, NSW and ACT universities offering health courses, and to the agencies funding the scholarships.

There are hundreds of scholarship opportunities listed on the website. Log on now to www.nswrdn.com.au and click on Students & Scholarships.
